

ABSTRACT

The invention discloses various methods whereby mobile communications devices, connected to a communications network can share data by acting as both clients and servers.

5 Specifically contemplated is the sharing of GPS assistance data. Also disclosed is the formation and use of hierarchical groups of mobile communications devices for the purpose of information sharing.